seniors across the nation who are competing for the scholarships, and Lim was further honored by being named among the top 58 students in the nation. Winners of the scholarship awards, which number 3400, will be announced at a later date. (Staff photo by Mike Newman).

Students Named National Finalists

Five Scholars Listed

Five Plano High School seniors have been named Finalists in the 1975 National Merit Scholarship Program, according to Principal Barney Newton.

Charles Lim, Ronald DeGroat, Lori McCurley, Jim Renard and Terry Stambaugh advanced from their earlier Semifinalist ranking to Finalist standing by confirming their previous high performance in the qualifying test on a second examination and by receiving the endorsement of Newton and the high school faculty.

The five Plano students and approximately 14,000 other high school seniors across the nation who were also named Finalists will compete for about 1,000 one-time National Merit $1000 Scholarships and 2,400 four-year National Merit Scholarships.

Winners of the National Merit Scholarships will be announced at three different dates in April by the National Merit Scholarship Corp.

Lim, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lim of 2404 Mesa in Richardson, ranked among the top 58 students in the nation on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test and has also been recognized by the National Council of English Teachers for outstanding writing ability. A member of the National Honor Society, Concert Choir, Key Club and French Club, he plans to major in electrical engineering at either SMU, Texas or Texas A&M.

DeGroat is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul DeGroat of 2813 Mollimar. Also a member of the National Honor Society, he plans to study physics either at California Institute of Technology or the University of Texas at Arlington.

Lori is another member of the National Honor Society and is also active in choir and the Future Teachers of America club. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.U. McCurley Jr. of 2600 Brookview, she plans to attend Baylor University and major in elementary education.

In addition to being a National Merit Finalist, Renard is a member of the National Honor Society, National Forensic League, International Thespians, served as 1974 Boys' State Attorney General and has been a finalist the last two years in University Interscholastic League informative speaking. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Renard of 1605 Westlake, he plans to study law, probably at Texas or SMU.

Stambaugh is a member of the 1973-74 All-Region Band, marching, concert and stage bands and National Honor Society. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stambaugh of 2629 Cedar Elm and will study either music or physics at North Texas State University or SMU.

Ellis Files in Council Race

One candidate has filed for each of the four city council positions to be contested in the April 5 election.

The last person to request a place on the ballot thus far is Robert I. Ellis, incumbent in Place 5. Ellis 55, is a resident of 3405 Greenbriar Lane.

Others who have previously filed include Jack Hatchell, Place 1; Louise Sherrill, Place 3; and Doug Herrin, Place 4. Place 1, 3 and 5 terms are for two years while the Place 4 term is for an unexpired period of one year.

Potential candidates have until March 5 to file a petition signed by 25 qualified voters requesting a place on the ballot. Petitions are available from City Secretary Dorothy Davis in the municipal building.

To serve as a city council member, a person must be a registered voter, an owner of real property and a resident of Plano for at least six months.

ERA Controversy Heats Up

Possibility of Referendum Draws Fire

By SYLVIA MORENO
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The whole affair was very un ladylike.

On one side was NOW — the National Organization for Women — which is hoping the legislature will not rescind its ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment. In NOW's corner was another women's group called Texans for the ERA. They called their opposition lairs and Birchers who receive their financial support from the Ku Klux Klan.

On the other side was the Committee to Restore Women's Rights. They want the legislature to put a referendum on the issue of equal rights on the April 22 state constitutional amendment ballot.

And they descended on the capitol Thursday. They wore buttons, unfurled banners and sported bumper stickers on their cars leaving no doubt which side they were on.

The whole controversy was started by a man — one George Preston, a Democratic representative from Paris. What Preston did was introduce a bill Wednesday to put a referendum on the issue of equal rights on the April 22 state constitutional amendment ballot.

When members of NOW heard what Preston had done, they swarmed on the capitol. The opposition was not far behind.

"We oppose this because the voters of Texas have already made their feelings clear on the issue of equal rights," NOW spokesperson Martha Dickey said.

(Texas voters approved a similar equal rights amendment to the state constitution by a vote of four-to-one in 1972.)

"The legislature would be wasting the taxpayers' money since they have already ratified the amendment and cannot rescind; and since even if this were not true, the results of the election would not be binding on the legislature," Ms. Dickey said.

Pro-ERA groups contend a move to rescind a constitutional amendment will be ruled unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court as happened in two other test cases.

Both groups do agree on one thing, however. They say the legislature will vote in their favor.

"I know we would win (defeat of a bill to rescind) in the House; I don't think it would even get out of committee," said Barbara Vacker, director of Texans for the ERA.

"I think we would win (a bill to rescind) because we're dealing with a very reasonable legislature who listens to its constituents," said Mrs. Bob Edmondson, state coordinator of the Committee to Restore Women's Rights.

She said mail to legislators runs from three-to-one to 30-to-one against the ERA.

On Discrimination

Hearings Continue

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Irving L. Kelly, 47, has worked for Braniff Airlines for 24 years. He works as a cleaner for the airlines in Denver and claims he can go no higher because he is black.

"I wanted to advance in this company," Kelly told a federal court Thursday.

Kelly, the father of four children, is one of 77 black and Spanish-surnamed employees who have filed a discrimination suit against Braniff Airways, Inc. The suit also charges a union representing airline employees perpetuates the discrimination.

U.S. District Judge D.W. Suttle scheduled a third day of pretrial hearings on the suit today and said he would conduct hearings again next week if they are needed.

Kelly told the court he worked for Braniff in San Antonio, Seattle and Denver and encountered discrimination in all three.

Kelly, who joined Braniff in 1951 at San Antonio, said he tried to transfer to cargo service in 1954 and 1955. He said he talked to a white foreman about the transfer and was told:

"You keep your mouth shut. You can't advance in this company. If Mr. Novac heard you say that, he'd fire you. Mr. Novac was the general manager."

Later, Kelly said the president of a union local in San Antonio "threatened to jump on me and whoop me and everything else" because Kelly suggested going to a union school.

"I filed several grievances," he testified. "As far as I'm concerned, they got to the wastebasket. I guess cause I was black."

Kelly said because conditions were so bad in San Antonio he transferred to Seattle in 1957.

"I ran into the same conditions up there as we had down here," he said.

When cleaning operations were subcontracted to a private concern by Braniff in Seattle in 1970, Kelly said he transferred to Denver and still found blacks relegated to the lower job classifications with little chance for advancement.

"Blacks haven't advanced none," Kelly said. "If they have, it's on a tokenism deal."

Postmarks Tell Valentine's Tale

"If I Wink a Lott, Woden you be my Veribest Valentine,"
By GARY L. TAYLOR

HOUSTON (UPI) — Postmaster Waldo E. Emrick finds his hobbies in his work. Last year he spent his vacation seeing a small Puerto Rican town that claims the lowest zip code.

And when Valentine's Day approached this year Emrick, a self-professed admirer of atrocious puns, was prepared.

His Valentine cards consist of a message spelled out mainly through the tool of his trade — the postmark.

For those of us not lucky enough to get on Emrick's list, here it is:

"Dear Hart: If I Wink a Lott, Woden you be my Veribest Valentine? I've seen China, the Klondike, the Trinidad — the Hull Tilden Earth. But you Art the Whon for me. Ackery, I Otto Runge to Tye the Knott."

"Howe I Lawn to call your Telephone, but no Rice. My Lytle Dime Box is Priddy Flat. Bayside, I Hartley have the Pep or Energy. This Paradise has Hext my Fate! Your Loving Texon."

"I enjoyed making the card," the 61-year-old Emrick said Thursday, "because Valentine is the one holiday you have license for puns, atrocious puns. I mean there's no holds barred. My main objective was to use as few connecting words between the 37 postmarks."

Emrick is a 37-year veteran of the post office. He said the Valentine is the third such card he has put together since getting the idea about a year ago.

"People have come up to me and asked, 'Is there really such a town?' and I just have to laugh," he said. "The reaction has been good."

Making the Valentine was not as easy as just pasting it up, he said.

"It took a lot of time and work writing to each town's postmaster, enclosing a self addressed envelope and getting a perfect postmark back," he said. Then came the job of writing the card.

It's That Day

Homemade presents are always appreciated and Valentines are no exception. Red paper and lace doilies are usually selected to express the appropriate sentiments for today, but Bernie Soto decided to give his wife Dora a Valentine with more meaning. The manager of the local Pizza Inn, Soto made his wife a heart-shaped pizza. (Staff photo by Mike Newman).

John Boy To Wed

NEW YORK (UPI) — Richard Thomas, 23, who plays "John Boy" in the "The Waltons" television series, has chosen St. Valentine's Day to get married.

Thomas will marry Alma Gonzales, 25, a social worker, in ceremonies today at New York's Central Baptist Church.

It will be the first marriage for both. Thomas formerly lived in New York, where he was a Chinese language student at Columbia University.

Retirement Announced

NORTON AFB, Calif. (UPI) — Air Force ace Charles E. Yaeger, the first man to fly faster than the speed of sound, is retiring "to fish and enjoy life."

Yaeger, one of the nation's most honored combat and test pilots, announced retirement plans Thursday, his 52nd birthday. The one-star general formally will leave the Air Force Feb. 28.

On Oct. 14, 1947, he broke the sound barrier in the first U.S. rocket plane, the Bell X1. A spokesman said he had no plans to take a civilian job, but wants only to move to his home in Northern California and "is just going to fish and enjoy life."

Tammy Accused

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Country singer Tammy Wynette, who rose to the top of the charts with the song "Stand By Your Man," was accused by her estranged husband Thursday of conspiring to destroy his career.

Miss Wynette filed divorce proceedings against George Jones last month and Jones has since cross-filed. Circuit Court Judge J. William Rutherford set a preliminary hearing on the case for Feb. 28.

Jones' countersuit denies Miss Wynette's charge against her. He also says there was a conspiracy between Miss Wynette and her manager to damage Jones' career, although the details were not given.

Political Donations

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — The Minneapolis Tribune says H. Ross Perot, a Texan who became a millionaire through government contracts, gave more than $73,000 to political candidates last year.

The Tribune reported Thursday in a copyrighted story from its Washington bureau that nearly $51,000 went to members of the two congressional taxwriting committees. "All but $6,500 of Perot's gifts were contributed to candidates after the Nov. 5 general election," the report said, and "only two congressmen received less than $1,000."

He Has Pneumonia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall has pneumonia but is responding to treatment, a Supreme Court spokesman said Tuesday.

Marshall, 67, entered Bethesda Naval Hospital Tuesday after returning from a trip to Los Angeles. Doctors estimate he will not be back on duty at the court for at least another two weeks.

Another member of the court, Justice William O. Douglas, has been away from the court since he suffered a stroke Jan. 1.

Those programs, "Campaigns for Christ" and the "School of Practical Evangelism," have been responsible for the preaching of the Gospel of Christ to thousands of people on several different continents.

This period will have all adult and teen classes combined in the auditorium.

Sunday evening at six p.m., Easom will show a film entitled "The Campaign for Christ Story."

Joe L. Banks, minister of the church, stated that the public is invited to all these services.

Church Not Responsible For Clinic

An item in Wednesday's Church Notes column told that the First United Presbyterian Church in Plano was announcing a family planning clinic which is now open in Plano.

However, the fact that the church did announce the clinic being open was in no way meant to be construed that the church itself is sponsoring the clinic or is responsible for its opening.

The Star-Courier regrets any inconvenience this may have caused the staff or members of First Presbyterian.

Bible Society

Dialect Count Updated

Books of the Bible have been published in 1,549 languages, according to the American Bible Society's annual updating of its official Scripture language count.

The new figure represents as of the end of 1974 the total number of languages and dialects in which at least one book of the Bible has been published since the invention of printing. A total of 23 new languages were added in 1974.

The Bible Society's publication of a complete New Testament in Yapeese brings that South Pacific language to the list for the first time. The other 22 new entries represent publication of individual Biblical books in languages ranging from Abua, spoken in Nigeria, to the Tsumkwe dialect of the !xu (Kung) dialect of South-West Africa. (The "!" represents a click.)

The total of 1,549 languages includes the publication of the complete Bible in 257 languages, the New Testament in 368 more, and one or more individual books in an additional 924. The report also lists many new publications in languages previously counted.

"Today's" versions in several languages—Danish, Bengali, Hindi, and three Philippine languages, Cebuano, Ilokano, and Tagalog—indicate widespread interest in updated translations. "Good News for Modern Man," the American Bible Society's New Testament in Today's English Version, has now reached a circulation of 47,000,000, the Bible Society reports.

Cooperation between Bible Societies, churches, and various Christian organizations concerned with Bible translation is evident in the list of new publications. Teams of experts in linguistics and Bible translation specialists are supported by the United Bible Societies, a worldwide fellowship of 57 national Bible Societies.

These consultants travel widely, meeting with local translation committees usually consisting of native speakers of the language. The U.B.S. is often the publisher of the resulting translation.

Commercial publications of Scriptures are almost nonexistent outside the English-speaking countries and Northern Europe, and Christians in the rest of the world depend almost entirely on Bible Society-subsidized publications for their supply of Scriptures.

The United Bible Societies' $11,000,000-a-year world service budget makes possible the sale of Scriptures at prices far below cost so that everyone can afford them. About half of this budget is underwritten by the American Bible Society with contributions from Christians of more than 70 denominations.

All Heart

Amy and Davy Kubeck, daughter and son of Dr. and Mrs. Tony Kubeck of the University of Plano, have their own special reminder of Valentine's Day by virtue of the family dog, a six-year-old beagle known as Dutchess, which has the outline of a heart on her side—or maybe it says she's all heart. At any rate, Dutchess also has a special reason for remembering this Valentine's Day...she just gave birth to a litter of puppies and all are doing fine. (Staff photo by Mike Newman).

Following Blowout

Stag Party Not The Same

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The ancient and not-quite-honorable tradition of the bachelor stag party on the eve of a wedding will never be the same following producer Irwin Allen's prenuptial blowout the other night.

Customarily the groom-to-be gets drunk along with his pals. Songs are sung around a piano — "Wedding Bells Are Breaking Up That Old Gang of Mine" — dirty jokes and lies are exchanged. Eventually everyone staggers home, assured tradition has been served.

But Allen is currently the toast of the town with his "Towering Inferno," surpassing his "Poseidon Adventure" thriller at the boxoffice.

To celebrate his real life adventure into wedlock a group of friends chose to send him reeling from the ranks of single men with a stag party to end all stag parties.

A banquet room in Beverly Hills' fanciest hotel was rented. Some 200 guests in their drinking clothes arrived bearing grungy gifts.

Steve Allen was master of ceremonies, abetted by George Jessel, Jack Carter, Jim Backus, George Burns, Bill Dana and others. Most of the celebrants had worked in Irwin's pictures over the years.

After a 14-year courtship of Sheila Mathews, Allen was taking the plunge for the first time. Almost everyone else in the room could count at least two marriages and some even more.

Following liberal applications of potables to all of the assembled, a steak and lobster dinner was dispatched, washed down with vintage red and white wines. The moment of truth had arrived for Irwin Allen. It was with trepidation, then, that the picture maker took his seat on a dais beside Steve Allen.

George Jessel, looking somewhat bilious, provided Irwin with gratuitous advice on wedding-night etiquette which was both hilarious and veneful.

Steve Allen took over to announce that two of Irwin's old girlfriends had shown up for the party. The producer paled at the news.

The orchestra played a fanfare. A spotlight picked up a woman in a provocative dress. Then she turned to face Irwin. The dear girl was a genuine bearded lady.

Irwin was only just recovering when Steve called out his second paramour. An enormous albino lady appeared and proceeded to swallow seven swords at once.

Red Buttons and Jack Carter contributed some of the funniest and dirtiest material heard even at a stag party. Henry Fonda and Fred Astaire, who were sitting on the dais, looked away in embarrassment.

The festivities, despite Steve Allen's masterful attempts to steer things into cleaner waters, were on the point of foundering when a large giftwrapped box was borne into the room.

Another tradition observed. Surely a nude maiden would leap from the box and cavort around the room. Irwin was called to open the package.

He recoiled and jumped backward. Instead of a nubile girl, the package disgorged the smallest midget imaginable dressed in pink satin, wearing a top hat and smoking a 10-inch cigar.

Mistaking Steve Allen for Irwin Allen, the profane midget belabored Steve in broken English. He was Hungarian and furious about something which never was established.

The midget interrupted every comedian with a four-letterword English vocabulary. The comedians replied with an onslaught of invective enough to sink Don Rickles. But the midget hung in there and regaled the revelers until the final toast was drunk.

Irwin Allen's marriage should be long-lasting. Clearly, he could not survive another stag party.

Mr. Nice Guy In White House

No Yelling Or Pushing From Ford

By RICHARD H. GROWALD

UPI Senior Editor WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lyndon B. Johnson yelled at aides. Richard M. Nixon shoved his press secretary in public. The White House now has a Mr. Nice Guy.

As they count their blessings in planning his 1976 campaign for election, President Ford's aides list high his human kindness.

Not even his political enemies accuse the President of being anything but one of the nicest fellows around Washington. The examples are many:

—Aides told Ford he must make his national television speech outlining his economic energy program at 8 p.m. EST. It was so ordered. Then Ford learned the Smothers Brothers, whose comedy could not be counted on to deal gently with him, had planned their television comeback that same night at 8 p.m. Ford, so as not to smother the brothers' program, moved his back to 9 p.m.

—Aboard Air Force One, minutes before landing and a presidential speech, a steward accidentally dumped a cup of coffee into Ford's lap. Aides pulled hair. The steward almost crumpled. But the President laughed it off, changed clothes in record time and said not a cross word.

—Ford's speeches are typed, like those of other leaders, in large print with paragraphs completed on each page and not continued, to insure smooth reading. A new secretary, typing a Ford speech on his plane, not only broke up paragraphs between pages but sentences and even words. Noticing this just before landing when nothing could be done, a Ford speechwriter said, "My heart sank. We had to tell Ford the awful news. He made sure no one would blame the young woman, who had not been told how to type the speech and he said only, 'Forget it. It'll be all right.'" The speech went off without woe.

—On perhaps his toughest day, Aug. 8, 1974, the day he was told he would become president, Ford stepped from the White House next door to his vice presidential office in the Old Executive Office Building and sat at his desk, awaiting a briefing by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. A young woman came in with a sandwich on a tray for him. Ford, noticing she was having difficulty maneuvering the tray through the doorway, interrupted his thoughts and sped around his desk and held the door for her. "It took something even more than a gentleman to do that at that moment," said a man who was there.

—Ford, on his way to a football coaches dinner, asked speechwriter Bob Orben to come along, continuing en route a conversation they had been having. When Ford's limousine reached the dinner site, Orben slipped out and joined presidential aides in the rear. But rear. But the President called out, "Bob," and waved him over. Orben said Ford introduced him to the coaches "who didn't have any idea who I was or what I was doing there or why we were shaking hands. But to the President I was his guest for the evening."

Ford is that kind of president who rises from a dinner table to thank the waiter. He is that kind of man who, as Air Force One is preparing to leave, thanks each of the motorcycle policemen who have escorted him to the airport. He says good morning to gardeners and is really interested when they answer his "how are you doing?"

License Tag Sales Ahead Of 1974

License plate sales in Collin County are running way ahead of past years according to Tax Assessor-Collector Mrs. Helen Lawson.

In the first three days of sales during February, the office recorded $46,152.84 in tag sales compared with $43,685.25 in the same period in 1974.

The 1974 figure was higher than the previous year.

Tags to be mailed are also more than twice the number put in the mail last year according to Mrs. Lawson. Mrs. Lawson reports eight boxes of tags will be mailed to car owners compared with only three last year.

The service cost an extra $1 above normal license tag fees, but is apparently being sought by more persons this year.

Tags will continue on sale at several locations in the county.

Church Observes Birthday

Persons attending are asked to bring a sack lunch.

For Saturday, Feb. 15, 1975
ARIES (March 21-April 19)
This is one of those days when you'll have too many irons in the fire. None will be ready to your satisfaction.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
You're very easily angered today, not so much by the immediate event but by rebuffs you recall from the past.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Don't be baseful about telling friends you can't afford to do certain things if it's true. Forget about keeping up with the Joneses.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Make an extra effort today to appreciate the other guy's point of view, or you're going to find yourself without allies.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Your attitude is such today that you tend to make things much harder for yourself than they really are. This will show up in your work.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Unfortunately you cannot depend upon others today to bail you out of your problems. Don't embarrass yourself by asking.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
It will seem like the only two choices available to you are bad and worse. That's why you're likely to do nothing productive at all.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Normally you're a well-organized person, capable of giving full attention to your tasks. Not so today. Be careful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
This is a reminder that you're still far too impulsive in the financial department. If you must spend, do it wisely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Things aren't all that cool yet domestically. Don't rehash volatile issues unless you're spoiling for a fracas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Keep a very light foot on your gas pedal if you're driving. Also, remind those you may be riding with to do the same.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Your expenses will run higher than they should for frivolous activities this weekend, unless you put a limit on what you'll spend.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

St. Valentine's Day was originally a Christian festival commemorating the martyrdom of St. Valentine on Feb. 14, 270 A.D. It was celebrated as early as the seventh century, but by the 14th century its religious significance was overshadowed by the non-religious customs still associated with the day. The World Almanac notes. Acceptance of St. Valentine as patron saint of lovers appears to have been accidental.

Louvre Lineage
The Louvre Museum in Paris was first opened to the public on Nov. 8, 1793. The construction of the Louvre, originally intended as a royal residence, was started in 1204 by King Philippe Auguste. Its fine art collection was begun by Francis I in the 16th century.

You will be fortunate this year. Others will look out for your interests and help you achieve important goals. You can assist by not taking risks you shouldn't.

Window battle proves a pain

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I want to use my bath salts jars for nuts but cannot seem to get the sweet flower-like odor out of them. What can I do to remedy this?
My Pet Peeve is when an usher in church opens one or two windows a bit and someone gets up and closes one. I cannot understand why such people do not move to another part of the church. It seems they could realize that others may be too warm in the crowd. — JESSAMINE.
DEAR JESSAMINE — Just last week a daughter-in-law of mine removed the odor from a perfume bottle by putting ammonia in it and letting it stand for a few hours. Be sure to wash clear of ammonia before using for food. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — Lisa can doubtless remove the marks made by a permanent felt-tipped marker from her laminated plastic table top by spraying the marks with a spray laundry pre-cleaner or by applying dry cleaning fluid containing naphtha. Rub lightly with a soft cloth. I have found that such marks often can be removed from wall surfaces (painted with latex or enamel) by using this spray. Again rub lightly with a soft cloth, rinse and dry. — ANDREA.

DEAR POLLY — You also might put enough baking soda and water on a sponge so as to dampen it, rub marks off, rinse and dry. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — Before storing deep fat fryers, electric roasters and other large utensils that are only used occasionally place a small lid or dish inside that contains about two tablespoons of baking soda. This will keep them sweet smelling. — MURIEL.

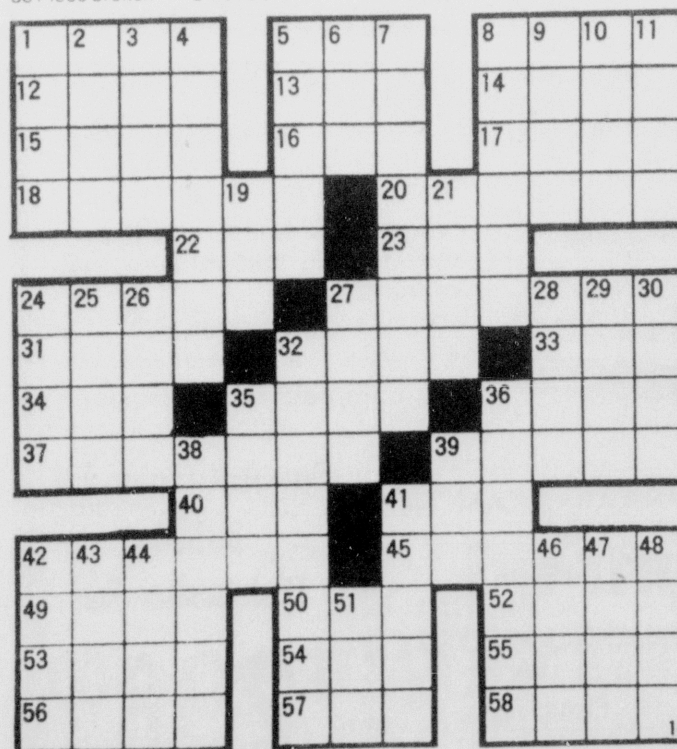

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for those living where outdoor watering is restricted. In our town we can only water every other day during the summer. Tomatoes and other young growing plants really need daily water. I took several large cans (#30 frozen fruit or lard cans) in which I had made small holes in the bottoms, filled these cans in the house and carried them out to my garden space. This allowed the water to seep around the thirsty plants on days when I could not turn the hose on. No water was wasted and not nearly so much was used as when the hose was turned on so I felt justified. — MABEL.

George Washington has been called the Father of our Country. He did embody many of the qualities of a good father. He possessed high ideals and he lived by those ideals. He was wise and used his wisdom to guide our young nation. In short, he was a fine example for all Americans to follow.

As we approach the bicentennial of our nation's birth - let's take time to honor George Washington - The Father of our Country.

Cage Fans Under Scrutiny

Rabid Crowds to be Watched at A&M, Arkansas Shootout

By United Press International

Basketball crowds have come under close scrutiny once again in the Southwest Conference, and that means the microscope will train on the capacity throng which will fill G. Rollie White Gymnasium Saturday night for the Texas A&M-Arkansas contest.

Fans have become quite rabid in Fayetteville this season because of the Razorbacks' record for a league title and recent visiting clubs have felt the fans were a little too rabid.

And last Tuesday night there was a barrage of ice throwing at Lubbock during the Texas Tech-SMU game which brought on a short, spicy exchange of words between Red Raider coach Gerald Myers and his Mustang counterpart, Bob Prewitt.

There was even some cup throwing from the small crowd at TCU, where the Horned Frogs put up a good battle before falling to Arkansas, but that was stopped after one public address announcement and a withering stare from coach Johnny Swaim.

Therefore the group gathering in College Station Saturday night for the game that will decide the conference leader will be watched closely.

Aggie coach Shelby Metcalf is not worried about the A&M crowd. He has proclaimed for years that the Texas A&M home crowd, while one of the most vocal, is at the same time one of the most disciplined and well behaved in the nation.

"We have a class crowd," Metcalf said this week.

Game officials have the authority to call a technical foul on crowds that get out of hand, but it is rarely done. Conference bylaws, in fact, call for discretion in making such calls.

Under rule 2, section 6 of the conference rule book, the situation is covered by this statement:

"The home management (is responsible for the crowd) in so far as they can reasonably be expected to control the spectators."

"The officials may call fouls on either team if its spectators or supporters act in such a way as to interfere with the proper conduct of the game."

"Discretion must be used in calling such fouls, however, less a team be unjustly penalized."

Southwest Conference executive secretary Cliff Speegle said technical fouls against the crowd, on the rare occasion they are called, are usually directed against an overzealous cheerleader.

"An abuse has to be hurled (toward a referee) nearly eyeball to eyeball," Speegle said.

Arkansas and Texas A&M will bring 6-1 records into the battle. Texas Tech, one game back at 5-2 going into the second half of the league season, will host Rice (1-6).

The other league games find TCU (2-5) hosting SMU (3-4) in an afternoon struggle and Texas (2-5) at home against Baylor (3-4).

Charlie O. Heads Off Arbitration

By GORDON SAKAMOTO

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — At the rate Charles O. Finley is signing players who filed for salary arbitration, he may not have to show up at the American Arbitration Association office again.

Less than 36 hours after arriving here for the start of the hearings, Finley, moving at a whirlwind pace, signed four of the 13 Oakland A's players who sought third-party rulings and was further buoyed Thursday when an arbitrator ruled in his favor in the case of pitcher Ken Holtzman.

Today's arbitration schedule lists Rolie Fingers, but don't be surprised if Finley corrals his ace relief pitcher before the meeting takes place.

Even before the hearings began Wednesday, it was revealed that the player front had been breached. Paul Lindblad, scheduled to be heard that afternoon, quietly signed for an estimated $55,000.

Holtzman went through with his case that morning and 24 hours later learned that the arbitrator, John A. Hogan, had agreed with Finley's presentation. That means the lefthander, who won 19 games last year for the three-time world champion A's, will get $93,000 and not the $112,000 he sought. Holtzman's attorney, Jerry Kapstein, said, "We're disappointed, but not devastatingly disappointed."

Wednesday night, Finley managed to persuade Joe Rudi, who was scheduled to appear before the arbitrator the following morning, and Gene Tenace to sign 1975 contracts. Then, only a few hours before his turn to face Finley and the arbitrator, Vinda Blue agreed to terms. Kapstein said he was "pleased with the success of the negotiations with Mr. Finley. My clients are also pleased and certainly they would not have signed if they weren't. I think the personal negotiations speaks well for both sides."

All four A's who negotiated with Finley received raises over their 1974 contracts.

Those remaining for arbitration, excluding Fingers, are Dave Hamilton and Ted Kubiak next Tuesday, Sal Bando and Ray Fosse Wednesday, John Odum Thursday in Los Angeles and Billy North and Reggie Jackson Friday, also in Los Angeles.

Tornado Ducat Prices Altered

Despite the rising costs and inflated economy, the Dallas Tornado has announced that ticket prices for the 1975 outdoor soccer season will remain substantially unchanged.

On a season ticket basis, a reserved seat for all twelve (12) Tornado home dates will cost $48.00, or $4.00 per game. A reserved seat for a youth, 18 years old or under, remains at $2.00 per game on a season ticket basis. If the youth is a member of Tornado Superstars, the season cost is $12.00.

The only price-hike comes in the cost of an adult reserved seat for a single game. That price jumps from $4.00 to $5.00.

In addition, the Tornado offers a family plan whereby a family of four, two adults and two children, receive season tickets to all twelve (12) home games for a total cost of $108.00.

"We have been hit with spiraling costs in various areas of our operation," noted Tornado President and General Manager Robert Power. "But the Dallas Tornado does not feel that now is at all the proper time to plan an added financial burden on families who enjoy attending professional soccer. By holding the line on season ticket prices we feel that Dallas Tornado soccer has become the most attractive athletic entertainment bargain in the Dallas-Fort Worth area."
